HOW DOES MIDWEST MATCH PLAY WORK?

1. The format of the Midwest Match Play main tourney is match play: a match is won by the first player to earn 7 points. Wins count as 2 points; skunks as 3.
2. The main tournament is double elimination: as long as you have no match losses or only one match loss, you are still alive; but after the second match loss you are eliminated from the main.
3. Prize money is paid back in graduated form to minimally the top ¼ of entrants (plus ties).
4. An optional $20 Q-pool will have 100% payback in equal shares to all qualifiers.
5. A blind drawing will be held prior to the start of play to determine first-round opponents. Spouses and blood relatives will be allowed to play in opposite halves of the bracket.
6. Before the first game of each match, cut for deal. The player who cuts the low card deals first, and thereafter the loser of the previous game deals the next game.
7. Since this is match-play format, a player can concede a game if his or her position is untenable. If there is doubt on the part of either player about the outcome of the game, the game should be played out.
8. Games must be played in fifteen minutes; in other words, each match must be completed in 1¾ hours max, with a fifteen-minute break between matches. Matches will be played according to this schedule (subject to change):
